

COMMUNITY INSTIGATION AND INVOLVEMENT

TIMELINE OF KEY EVENTS

A full report of public and stakeholder involvement is contained in an accompanying Consultation Statement. There has been a long history of discussion with the local community from the early 1990s up to the present. This has influenced the vision for the new community. Workshops have been held with everyone concerned on a wide range of topics to help inform the content of this Masterplan Report.

1989

Preliminary consultation on the Badenoch and Strathspey Local Plan – Aviemore & Vicinity Community Council first identified the concept of a planned new community across the Spey to manage Aviemore's continuing growth as a more sustainable solution than continuing northward expansion.

1996

Adoption of Badenoch and Strathspey Local Plan after Public Inquiry set the design parameters for An Camas Mòr.

1999

Cambusmore Action Group sets out the scope for survey and assessment work required to take An Camas Mòr forward.

2004

Publication of survey report, feasibility study and technical effectiveness study by An Camas Mòr team. Local Plan public consultation meetings held by the Community Council in November confirm the need for An Camas Mòr

2005

First public meeting led by the Community Council to consider the studies and principles for An Camas Mòr.

2006

Second public meeting where the Gehl principles and methodology were agreed by the local community and the vision was commenced.

2008

Stakeholders workshops to discuss landscape, affordable housing, transport, sustainability, streets, public realm. A presentation was also made to 'Architecture + Design Scotland', who were supportive.

2008

Third public meeting to comment on latest Proposed Land Use Plan.

2009

Fourth public consultation on the plans.

